

MAN KILLED, 2 INJURED, AUTOMOBILE DEMOLISHED, 2 TRUCKS DAMAGED, IN 3-VEHICLE CRASH NEAR FALLSINGTON

One Truck, Out of Control When Driver is Hurlled to The Highway, Crashes Into Service Station, Breaking Plate-Glass — Passenger Car Said To Be On The Wrong Side of The Highway.

FALLSINGTON, June 9—A young man, 21 years of age, was fatally hurt, two others were injured, one passenger car demolished, a truck considerably damaged, and plate glass window in a service station broken in a triple collision on the Lincoln highway, near here, this morning at two o'clock.

The dead:
David Jones, 21, Sweet avenue, Trenton, N. J.
The injured:

Wallace Kapras, Rutherford avenue, Trenton, N. J., lacerations of face and chin, possible fracture of skull.
Jones died en route to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., in Union Fire Co. ambulance, Morrisville. X-rays are to be taken at that institution today to determine if Kapras' skull is fractured.

The investigating officer was Chief of Police Franklin Kirby, Falls township. According to Kirby, Jones was travelling west on the wrong side of the highway at two o'clock this morning, when his passenger car ran head-on into a truck owned by "Mrs. Wagner's Pies", Newark, N. J., and operated by Lee Howard. The Jones car then rolled across the highway into the path of a truck of McCormick Transportation Company, Wilmington, Del., operated by Cornelius West, Wilmington.

Wallace Kapras was a passenger in the Jones machine. He, too, was taken to the hospital in the fire company ambulance. The Jones car was a total wreck.

Considerable damage was caused to the Wagner Co. truck. This vehicle went out of control when the driver, Lee Howard, was hurled to the highway, and the truck crashed into the front of the Andrea Service Station, breaking the plate glass. The Andrea family was asleep on the second floor, and the impact of the truck shook the building. The McCormick Co. truck was also damaged.

THE WAR

By Rafael Steinberg
INS War Correspondent

TOKYO, June 9 — (INS) — United Nations artillery and ground troops struck at the southern fringes of the Communist great "Iron Triangle" supply area today where an estimated 200,000 Red troops were massed for an all-out defense in central Korea.

Allied heavy artillery pounded the key towns of Chorwon and Kumhwa at the base of the triangle in which some Tokyo sources believe the Communists have massed the major portion of their arms and munitions available for the Korean war. A showdown battle was shaping up in the central mountains.

Chinese Red screening forces, battling more fiercely than ever, contested every inch of ground along the three roads leading to Kumhwa and the one road leading north to Chorwon. Kumhwa is 18 miles north of the 38th Parallel and 14 miles east-northeast of Chorwon. At the apex of the triangle is the road hub of Pyongyang, 13 miles north of Kumhwa.

A spokesman for the Foreign Office said the reports of secret Atlantic Pact documents being missing are "completely baseless and without foundation."

"Sweated Out" 3 Weeks In Korea To Be With Brother

CAMP KILMER, N. J., June 9 — (INS) — Nineteen-year-old Cpl. Charles Barrall disclosed today that he unnecessarily "sweated out" three weeks of combat in Korea that he might be rotated home with his brother, Calvin, 21.

The young Bucks County (Pa.) GI revealed that he passed up a "ticket home" to stay with his older brother in the front lines. "It was a long time to sweat out," the younger Barrall said, "but it was worth it."

Both the brothers were artillery forward observers in the retreat from Changjin Reservoir last April 5 when their unit drew lots for rotation priority.

Charles pulled No. 3 and could have left for his Ivyland, Pa., home at once. Calvin's lot was No. 15.

The younger brother decided to wait for Calvin and swapped his No. 3 ticket to "one surprised and happy" buddy who drew No. 14.

The Barralls are resting up from the rigors of Korean combat at Camp Kilmer, where their father, Sgt. Kenneth Barrall, is the post veterinary inspector.

NOT BRAIN-TEASERS

From all accounts the more than 175,000 college students who took the selective service college qualification test for deferment to continue their education did not find the mathematical problems too hard.

Confronted by an individual question, they had to select which of four or five answers was the correct one. It required no mathematical genius to get the answers to many of them without putting pencil to paper. For example:

"A car X passes T, who is going 20 miles an hour. When T has gone one mile, X is two miles ahead of him. How fast in miles per hour is X traveling? The choice of answers is 30, 40, 45, 50 and 60.

T has traveled his mile in three minutes, but in the same lapse of time X has traveled that mile and two more, or three miles in three minutes. If he goes a mile a minute, the answer plainly is 60.

There are many mathematical brain-teasers of high school and college days. In the former is the elaborate diagram to prove in plane geometry that the square of the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle is equal to the combined squares of the two other sides. Too bad "How old is Ann?" wasn't in the selective service quiz. This problem, invented by a newspaperman 48 years ago, went around the world, causing argument without end. So far as known it broke up no homes, but probably was the cause of numerous black eyes. Here it is:

"Mary is 24 years old. She is twice as old as Ann was when Mary was as old as Ann is now. How old is Ann?"

The answer is 18. Readers of 2,000 newspapers were asked their opinions and teachers of mathematics were interviewed. As recently as 1940 the question bobbed up again.

ANTI-RAINMAKER WANTED

The Soviet Union, which has been discovering that Russians really invented everything from the telephone ("What hath Marx wrought!") to nuclear fission, has now come out with another claim.

New electronic devices for making artificial rain have been perfected in Russia, the news agency Tass announces.

If this is true, they could be used in Korea or elsewhere in war. Rain that grounds planes and bogs down mechanized forces in mud would certainly help the chances of the communists. In this country rainmaking has not been developed to the stage where the results have much practical value. So even if the Russians aren't lying, this time, their device may not be worth much in war.

And a good thing, too, if it isn't. No one so far claims to have invented a device that will keep rain from falling, whether the rainfall is natural or is artificially induced. If there were such a device, it would be welcomed by S. forces, faced with increasingly wet Korean weather in the immediate future. Can't someone invent a rain-rain-go-away machine?

Couple Wed Here Will Honeymoon at Cape Cod

Mr. Fred Norato escorted his sister, Miss Lucy A. Norato, of 345 Dorrance street, to the altar of St. Ann's R. C. Church this morning, where, at the hour of 10 she was united in marriage to Mr. Carl C. Conti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Conti, Trenton, N. J. The Rev. Peter Pinci performed the nuptial mass, with organ music provided by Mrs. Louis Frease, Mill street.

There were vocal duets sung prior to and during the ceremony by Mrs. Philip Paoletta, Taylor and Wood streets, and Mrs. Gilbert Herman, Jefferson avenue.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. William Norato, Dorrance street, was costumed attractively in white lace. The skirt featured a double ruffle of net and a short sweep. The sleeves tapered over her hands; and lace flowers encircled her illusion yoke. From an orange blossom head-piece there fell to her fingertips a veil of net. On the prayer book which she carried rested white orchids.

The trio of attendants of the bride were gowned in pink. The three were: Bridesmaids, Miss Evelyn Rotondo, Washington street, and Miss Evelyn Buck, Jefferson avenue; matron of honor, Mrs. Fred Norato, Dorrance street. The pale pink gowns, over pink slips, were of embossed net, sprinkled with silver. The form-fitting bodices were strapless, and the skirts were cut full. Net stoles and silver slippers were worn. The flowers on their hair and those which composed their hand bouquets were of cymbidium.

Mr. Vincent DeLorenzo, Trenton, was best man for Mr. Conti; the usher being Mr. Joseph Dulkie, of Washington, D. C.

To members of the bridal party and relatives, dinner will be served at the Italian Sportsmen's Club, Trenton. Mr. Conti and bride will spend two weeks at Cape Cod, Mass. Chosen by Mrs. Conti as a travelling costume is a cream colored suit, brown accessories, and an orchid corsage. The two will make their home at 345 Dorrance street.

For the ceremony Mrs. Norato selected an orchid dress, and orchid flowered hat; while choice of Mrs. Conti, mother of the bridegroom, was a navy blue dress and matching straw hat. Both wore corsages composed of lavender orchids.

Mr. Conti, a graduate of George Washington University, Washington, D. C., is a student at St. John's College of Pharmacy, Brooklyn, N. Y. To the best man and usher he presented cuff links and the clasps. Mrs. Conti gave her attendants wrist watches.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rabbi Aron Moskovits
Of Congregation Ahavath Achim

On this day which Thou hast sanctified and proclaimed the day of rest, a day of holy convocation and spiritual exaltation, we pray unto Thee as our fathers did: "Sanctify us through Thy commandments and grant our portion in Thy law." "Give us abundantly of Thy goodness and make us rejoice in Thy salvation; purify our hearts to serve Thee in truth."

May the memorable and historic season of receiving the Ten Commandments be ushered in at sundown bring home its due and timely message to all the children of man. Amen.

According to his own testimony, George F. Egan, police photographer for the city of Phila., testified that he took photographs of a thumb-print on the recovered pistol clip taken out of gun found at the scene.

Albert Connor, Phila. police department fingerprint expert, testified that he has compared over a million prints and that in his opinion the print on the pistol's clip was the left thumb print of the defendant Chapasco. The fingerprint was made at Langhorne the witness said, on Sept. 10, 1950. A previous print of Chapasco had been made May 24, 1950, Connor testified. Where it was made was not disclosed.

Langhorne Council Hears Several Reports

plaint received about school children causing a disturbance around the community building.

Chief Arnwine said: "Most of the disturbance around the community building is taking place around noon time by children around 17 years old. They have been warned that if it does not stop action will be taken. They have been moving the benches and causing a disturbance in general."

George C. Mather, burgess, told council that the Memorial day program was a success. "A very nice parade was held and ceremonies were very fitting for the day."

The property committee chairman, Arthur S. Walker, reported that the new post office boxes were being ordered and that as soon as the rain gutters were finished the painting of the buildings would be started.

Ernest Hisey, reporting for the street and highway committee, said: "The gutter project is going along and as soon as the residents repair and line-up their curbs the project will be completed. The main hold-up in the project is the need for the residents to fix the curbs, so that the gutters can be fixed. There is not much that can be done to the gutters until the curb work is done."

Pine street project is about 75% completed and if weather permits the project should be finished by the next meeting of council.

A letter was read by William Palmer, secretary of council, from the Public Utility Commission, stating that the Langhorne Water Company now has stand-by equipment installed so that there should be no shortage of water in the case of a power failure.

Secretary Palmer reported that the Bucks County Boroughs Association will meet in Quakertown on June 26th.

A report from the building inspector, read by the secretary, stated that one permit had been issued for a house and garage costing about $9,000, and one permit issued for a cesspool.

PACIFIC STEEL BEATS 3M TEAM

Pacific Steel handed the Minneapolis Mining team a stinging defeat in a Bristol Suburban Softball League game last evening on Memorial field. Final score was 9-2.

The boiler-makers made 12 safeties off the hurling of Amy Lewis while the losers mustered but four off the pitching of Joe Garafalo. Of the twelve Pacific hits, four were doubles and another a triple.

The winners jumped on Lewis for a quartet of tallies in the first on Constantino's triple, a double by Dezy DeLise, a walk and a two-bagger by Nick Lomma plus an in-field out.

Five more runs crossed in the fifth on singles by Constantino, DeLise, DeLise, Frank Lucenti, and Mannocchi and a two-base hit by Garafalo.

It was the third loss of the season for the scotch-tape makers although they maintained their edge on first place.

Continue Hearing On Falls Petition

Isaac J. Vanartsdalen and Edwin H. Satterthwaite.

At the first hearing on Monday the Falls township men and women, who wanted their names stricken off the petitions, testified they were given the impression that no more liquor licenses would be granted in Falls township.

They did not, they testified, realize that what they signed was a petition to place on the ballot for local vote on the question of granting beer or liquor licenses in the township.

When the petitioners learned that Falls township could be voted "dry" or "wet" they became panicky and protested.

Circulators of the petitions Wednesday denied they misrepresented, falsely stated or defrauded any of the signers about the purpose of the local option petitions.

Family Service Ass'n Work Is Recounted comes and greater spending opportunities call for instruction in budgeting, new-found freedom and time for recreation call for planning of community and personal activities, economic pressures and tensions call for understanding and advice, that people may be helped to adjust themselves to those living with and around them. "The services of a Family Service Agency helps to relieve these tensions, by advising and directing individuals to the right place for help."

It was pointed out by a representative from the Family Agency of a nearby county that 49 cases from the Bristol area had been handled by them in the past year. In the light of the growing population and problems arising from increased housing, school crowding, and social tensions in Bristol area, it was suggested by Mrs. Aron Moskowitz that local folk start now to study the possibilities of forming such an agency in this area. Mr. Burris consented to form a committee to do this study and to report back to the council at its next meeting early in October.

Representatives from the following organizations were present: Laurel Bend, East Bristol, Bristol, and Croydon-Delhaas PTA's, The Travel Club, WCTU, American Legion, Pennsylvania Department of Health, Tuberculosis Society, Rohm & Haas Sewing Circle, and Guidance counselors from Bristol and Delhaas high schools.

miles northwest of Kumhwa. The bitter Red resistance in the rugged terrain of mountainous central Korea bore out at least in part Tokyo sources which said the Communists have concentrated "everything they own" in the triangle.

These sources pointed out that the Chonwon-Kumhwa-Pyongyang triangle embraces the only major road network in North Korea that is not blocked by gunfire from Allied warships patrolling the coasts of the peninsula.

On the east coast renewed Communist offensive activity turned up when North Korean troops launched several probing attacks.

Treacher Has Excellent Support, Opening Night

NEW HOPE, June 9 — Every seat in Bucks County Playhouse was occupied last evening—opening night for the 1951 season.

The attraction was "Clutterbuck", starring Arthur Treacher, with a fine supporting cast — Ronald Telfer, Frances Tannhill, Cathleen Cordell, Rita Talbot, Henry Jones, and Robert Tyson.

The play, which will run through Saturday, June 16th, gave the seven members of the cast excellent opportunity to portray their acting abilities, and the audience was most generous in its applause.

Henry Jones, always popular with Playhouse-goers, at the conclusion of the final act, bespoke his pleasure in fulfilling such an "arduous" role (Jones, as "Clutterbuck" had not a line to utter).

Treacher, known to many through the medium of the silver screen, gave a fine performance as Arthur Pomfret, and he, too, spoke briefly to the audience after the final curtain.

The Dublin String Band played selections on the court house steps as the women and men assembled from all parts of the county.

After the women retired to Doylestown Fire Co. station for their meeting, the Bucks County Firemen's Association annual meeting proceeded in the court house. Invocation was by the Rev.
